Creating a New Dialog

After selecting Dialog Editor mode, use the plus sign icon to create a new dialog.

Click on the plus sign. The text box below will appear on your screen.

Create New Dialog

A screenshot of the "Create New Dialog" form. It contains the following fields: "Title", "English Title (optional)", "Orientation (optional)", "Book" (dropdown menu with "-- Please Choose a Book --"), "Module" (dropdown menu with "-- Please Choose a Module --"), and "Keep Public/Private?" with radio buttons for "Public" and "Private" (selected). At the bottom are "Cancel" and "+ Add" buttons. A blue bracket on the right groups the Title, English Title, and Orientation fields. A blue arrow points from the text box on the right to the "+ Add" button.

Enter the metadata for the dialog you are going to create.
Click on Add when you have finished.

Done

Enter dialog into the text fields. Begin with the English Speaker. When you have finished, enter an interpretation in the field below.

If the English Speaker's entry is lengthy (i.e. more than approximately eleven words), you can divide it into several turns. After entering the text and interpretation for the first segment, click on the green circle with the plus sign to add a turn.

Add/Edit Turns : New Dialog 1

The interface shows a dialog creation screen with three columns: English Speaker, Interpreter, and French Speaker. The English Speaker column contains four turns with text input fields and play buttons. The Interpreter column is currently empty. A blue callout box points to the plus sign icon next to the last turn in the English Speaker column.

Comment puis-je vous aider?

New turns will appear in a column on the left side of your screen. Continue clicking the plus sign icon to add as many turns as you like for the English speaker.

When you have finished the entries for the English Speaker, use the arrow icon in the blue circle to begin composing lines for the Target Language Speaker.

The interface shows the same dialog creation screen, but now the French Speaker column contains two turns. The first turn is 'J'ai un rendez-vous avec Monsieur Martin.' and the second is 'I have an appointment with Mr. Martin.' A blue callout box points to the arrow icon in the blue circle next to the last turn in the English Speaker column.
